Local communities have rallied to meet local need. Response has been very quick, especially in the community. New volunteers coming forward which was fantastic

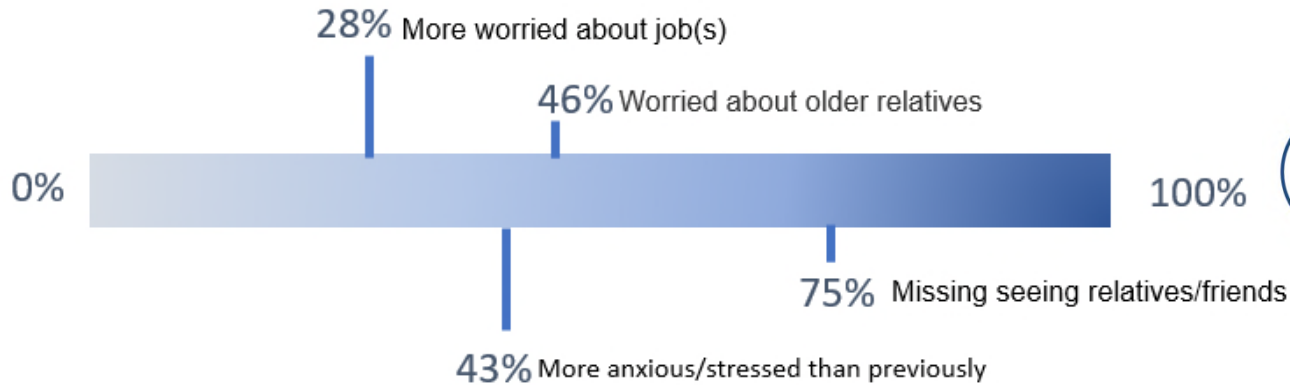

The flow of information and direction from Aberdeenshire Council was brilliant however we felt somewhat overwhelmed by the amount

Views about the impact on community groups
Views about the impact on people

Biggest negative impacts people are facing right now

Three quarters of respondents noted that they have been missing relatives and friends

In general we have coped well and the only real worry has been over future employment but that was to do with the oil price as well as covid. Overall I am optimistic that there will be work just might not be the same as prior to the lockdown

We found it very difficult to both work and have a preschool aged child at home (we are all very independent, including the child). Most resources and activities were for more school aged children. However, the psychological resilience hub was fantastic and helped me get through the worst patch

From mountain to sea

Have used new technology to keep in touch with friends and family?

Most people reported that they had used new technology such as zoom and Face Time to keep in touch with others

Frequency of contact with friends and family

About the same

Nearly everyone reported that they have been in contact with others either about the same as before or more often

Nearly half of all respondents agreed that support from family had made the pandemic easier

More wild flowers, quieter roads enabling us to enjoy bike rides & walks without fear of speeding traffic which is normally an issue. Less rubbish lying around the streets & park

I liked the wild flowers in embankments and roundabouts that had been left to grow, encouraging bees and other pollinators

More people saying hello and in my village plenty of people out walking but it didn't feel busy. More wildlife for sure. Especially the noisy birds.

I'm really concerned about people from Aberdeen ignoring the local lockdown rules and visiting Deeside, about people visiting multiple pubs, getting drunk being unable to adhere to pretty simple social distancing rules and putting lives at risk. I'm concerned about the local economy and the financial hardships that families will face when there are inevitable job cuts.

PART 2: Ward Forum Meetings

- Forum meetings ran in all six administrative areas of the Council in August 2020
- All Elected Members and a range of groups and organisations from the community, voluntary and, business community were invited to attend virtually
- Feedback from meetings was positive and a general feeling from all the meetings was that the meetings in themselves were a good way to bring the local community together to reflect on the last few months and an important to step to continue to promote, sustain, support, and maintain community action and connections locally

Aberdeenshire

Feedback from ward forum meetings People

- People valued, and were supported by, the Grampian Covid19 Assistance Hub
- Quick financial help from Aberdeenshire Council through the Resilience Fund was key to the success
- The existence of strong community groups (both new and established) was of key importance
- Community spirit increased and was evident in acts of kindness

- There was too much reliance on digital communication
- Information was being issued from too many places and a more co-ordinated approach
- Loneliness and isolation were big issues particularly for the elderly
- Volunteers are going back to work, reducing availability and capacity for community groups.

From mountain to sea

Feedback from ward forum meetings Place

- Footpath and cycle networks created over past years were greatly appreciated.
- Physical activity increased. People realised what is on their doorsteps
- Communities were shopping more locally, local businesses supported the community and the community supported the businesses
- Reduction in traffic meant
- Uncut grassed areas and verges left for wildflowers to grow were appreciated

- Lack of grass cutting, maintenance of communal spaces
- Concerns about the confidence of shielded and elderly residents
- Investment is required into providing and upgrading safe accessible paths
- Increase of littering and dog fouling
- Sudden increase in day visitors and overnight campers to coastal and rural areas

From mountain to sea

Feedback from ward forum meetings

Economy

- Local business reacted quickly to the pandemic and were able to diversify
- Employers saw that productivity could be maintained with employees working flexibly at home.
- Business relief fund for village halls

- Concerns over the end of furlough, increase in unemployment, reduction of available jobs, pay cuts etc.
- Limited broadband affects rural business.
- Not all businesses or organisations were eligible for funding support and charitable organisations are reporting a drop in donations
- Covid-19 is not going away, communities need to be supported to live with Covid-19 and to recover
- Need to avoid duplication of other work taking place and be careful not to create dependencies for people

PART 3: Data analysis

Overall vulnerability

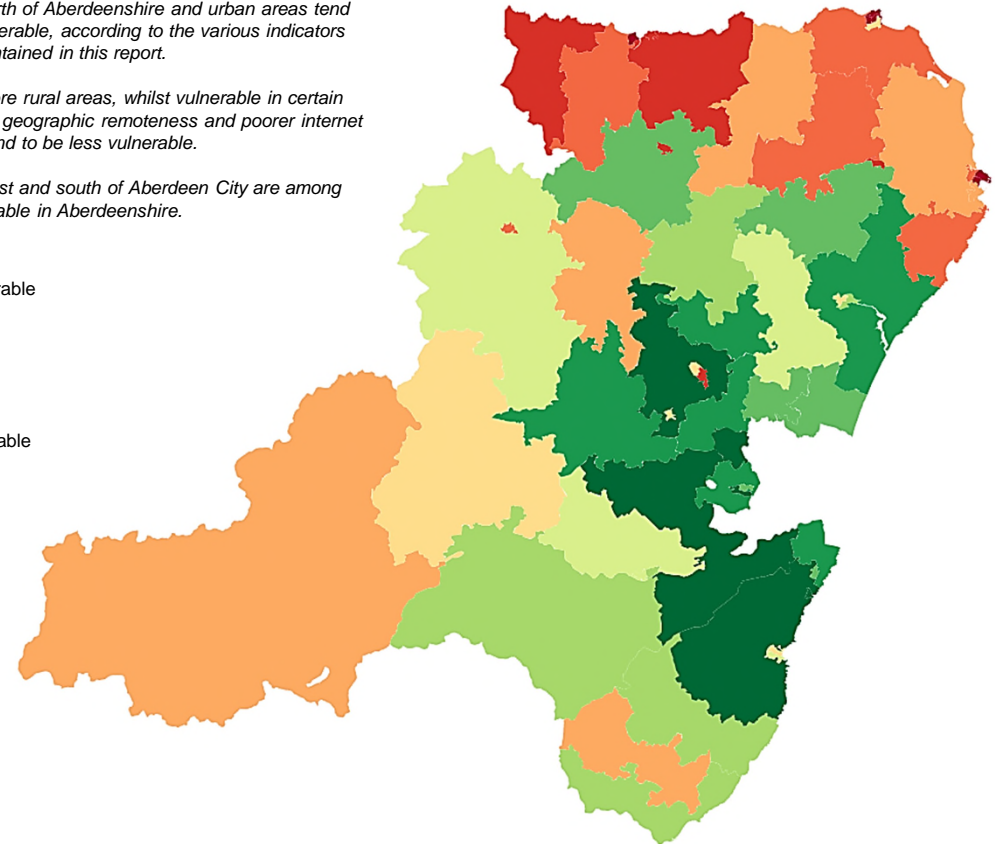

Intermediate Zones in Aberdeenshire ranked according to their respective rankings using the following themes:

- COVID Vulnerability;
- Age Vulnerability;
- Health Vulnerability;
- Economic Vulnerability;
- and Other Socio-Economic Vulnerability.

Areas in the north of Aberdeenshire and urban areas tend to be more vulnerable, according to the various indicators and themes contained in this report.

Some of the more rural areas, whilst vulnerable in certain respects due to geographic remoteness and poorer internet connections, tend to be less vulnerable.

Areas to the west and south of Aberdeen City are among the least vulnerable in Aberdeenshire.
